

National Marina Day, held on June 11, 2011, is a day for celebrating marinas and all they bring to their communities as gateways to our nation's waterways. On this day, marinas are asked to open their doors to their neighbors and let them experience the marina lifestyle, learn about the waterfront environment and see firsthand all the fun that can be had on the water.

Please see the list of marinas for different activities that will be held throughout the state. We hope Florida will lead the way with National Marina Day events again this year with activities that showcase our outstanding marina industry!

If you have any questions, please visit www.nationalmarinaday.org for more information.
