Situation Report # 65
Friday, July 02, 2010 at 1200 hrs EDT

David Halstead
State Coordinating Officer

Weather Summary:

- A 5-15 knot east winds will continue today across the northern-central gulf but will increase to 10-20 knots Saturday through Sunday. This in addition to a 40-60% chance of rain and 3-5 foot seas may hamper some oil recovery efforts both onshore and offshore through the weekend. A predominant east wind and ocean current flow will push the oil plume westward and NOAA trajectories continue to predict impacts across the western panhandle mostly near Pensacola Bay through Sunday. Offshore, no significant amounts of oil are within or moving towards Eddy Franklin and there is no clear path for oil to enter the Florida Straits.
- Tropical Depression Alex dissipated across central Mexico yesterday and the National Hurricane Center has issued its final advisory on the system. There is a 10% chance that a non-tropical low pressure system currently near the Florida Bay Bend will develop into tropical or sub-tropical system within the next 48 hours.

Current Situation:

- Florida beaches are open.
- Estimated release rate of oil from Deepwater Horizon at 35,000 to 60,000 barrels per day. Optimization of the dual recovery system (LMRP Cap and Q4000) continues; total oil recovered approximately 25,154 barrels on 7/01/10.
- This event has been designated a Spill of National Significance.
- Unified Area Command continues with a comprehensive oil well intervention and spill response planning following the April 22 sinking of the Transocean Deepwater Horizon drilling rig 130 miles southeast of New Orleans.
- More than 43,000 personnel are working the on and offshore response.
- Oil-water mix recovered: nearly 28.17 million gallons
- Response vessels available: more than 6,950
- Response aircraft available: 115
- Dispersant (in gallons): more than 1.62 million deployed
- There is no planned use of dispersants in Florida waters.

Florida Specific:

- Health advisories: Escambia County was extended on July 1, 2010 to include all Gulf beachside waters. Walton County has a health advisory in effect from Lake Stallworth to the western edge of Topsail State Park.
- Tar balls, tar patties and sheen have been reported in Northwest Florida, with the heaviest impacts reported in Escambia and Santa Rosa Counties.
- Pensacola Pass as well as Perdido Pass will continue to be closed with the tide to reduce the amount of oil from entering inland waters. These waterways are manned to allow access to necessary vessel traffic during low tide.
- Oil Containment Boom (in feet) total: 660,961 deployed in Florida.
 - Tier 1: 255,900 / Tier 2: 133,600 / Tier 3: 271,461
- In accordance with established plans, protective booming, staging, and boom maintenance is being conducted along the coast from Escambia to Franklin.
- 103 vessels are deployed in Florida for the Vessels of Opportunity program.
- 1,304 Qualified Community Responders are actively working in the Florida Panhandle.
- Federal Fishery closure, west of Cape San Blas to state line. (see NOAA FB10-059).
- On July 1, the Florida Fish and Wildlife Commission with federal partners announced the creation of an oiled bird recovery plan for rapid response to distressed birds.
- According to the NOAA oil plume model, the oil plume is 50 miles from Panama City and 271 miles from St. Petersburg. NOAA trajectories continue to predict oil impacts across the western Florida Panhandle through Sunday.
- In addition to $100,000 for Volunteer Florida to maintain a volunteer registration database, BP has issued over $75 million in grants to Florida for booming, a national tourism advertising campaign, and the state's preparedness and response efforts. An additional $500,000 has been issued by BP to fund two innovative technology solutions for Okaloosa County.
- BP claims in Florida total 24,420 with approximately $22,375,703.39 paid.
