

Situation Report # 68

Monday, July 05, 2010 at 1200 hrs EDT

Charlie Crist
Governor

David Halstead
State Coordinating Officer

Weather Summary:

- Southeasterly winds of 10-15 knots will persist across the Northern Gulf Coast today and will continue increase up to 20 knots on Tuesday. Near shore waves will be low, around 1-2 feet, but will increase to 4-5 feet by tomorrow night. High offshore chances of rain will hamper surface recovery operations through tomorrow. Offshore, no significant amounts of oil are within or moving towards Eddy Franklin and there is no clear path for oil to enter the Florida Straits. In the tropics, the National Hurricane Center has given the non-tropical low pressure system in the northern Gulf of Mexico a 10% chance of becoming a tropical cyclone before making landfall within the next two days. A tropical wave in the northwestern Caribbean is in an area of weather conditions favorable for development and has a 40% chance of becoming a tropical cyclone within the next 48 hours.

Current Situation:

- Florida beaches are open.
- Estimated release rate of oil from Deepwater Horizon at 35,000 to 60,000 barrels per day. Optimization of the dual recovery system (LMRP Cap and Q4000) continues; total oil recovered approximately 25,025 barrels on 7/04/10.
- This event has been designated a Spill of National Significance.
- Unified Area Command continues with a comprehensive oil well intervention and spill response planning following the April 22 sinking of the Transocean Deepwater Horizon drilling rig 130 miles southeast of New Orleans.
- More than 45,000 personnel are working the on and offshore response.
- Oil-water mix recovered: nearly 28.3 million gallons
- Response vessels available: more than 7,040
- Response aircraft available: 113
- Dispersant (in gallons): more than 1.69 million deployed
- There is no planned use of dispersants in Florida waters.

Florida Specific:

- Health Effects: Oil Impact notice postings: Escambia County, all Gulf side beaches; Walton County, all Gulf beaches.
- Tar balls, tar patties and sheen have been reported in Northwest Florida, with the heaviest impacts reported in Escambia County.
- Pensacola Pass as well as Perdido Pass will continue to be closed with the tide to reduce the amount of oil from entering inland waters. These waterways are manned to allow access to necessary vessel traffic during low tide.
- Oil Containment Boom (in feet) total: 701,161 deployed in Florida.
 - Tier 1 & Tier 2: 419,600/ Tier 3: 281,561
- In accordance with established plans, protective booming, staging, and boom maintenance is being conducted along the coast from Escambia to Franklin.
- 210 vessels are deployed in Florida for the Vessels of Opportunity program.
- 1,486 Qualified Community Responders are actively working in the Florida Panhandle.
- Federal Fishery closure, west of Cape San Blas to state line. (see NOAA FB10-059).
- According to the NOAA oil plume model, the oil plume is 38 miles from Pensacola, 124 miles from Panama City and 333 miles from St. Petersburg. The wind and wave conditions will push the near shore oil plume westward and NOAA is forecasting impacts no further east than Perdido Pass through Wednesday.
- In addition to $100,000 for Volunteer Florida to maintain a volunteer registration database, BP has issued over $75 million in grants to Florida for booming, a national tourism advertising campaign, and the state's preparedness and response efforts. An additional $500,000 has been issued by BP to fund two innovative technology solutions for Okaloosa County.
- BP claims in Florida total 25,461 with approximately $23,192,466.58 paid.
