

Situation Report # 82

Monday, July 19, 2010 at 1200 hrs EDT

Charlie Crist
Governor

David Halstead
State Coordinating Officer

Weather Summary:

- High pressure over the region will provide moderate south winds 10-15 knots through the week. Near shore waves will also be out of the southeast through Wednesday, with seas building to around 2-4 ft near shore and up to 5 ft offshore by Wednesday morning. Rain chances are 20-40% both onshore and offshore through Wednesday. Heat indices will be near 100-105 degrees today and tomorrow. The southeasterly winds and waves will continue to push the main portion of oil plume towards the northwest. A tropical wave in the central Caribbean and a tropical wave just north of Puerto Rico have a 20% chance of becoming tropical cyclones within the next 48 hours.

Current Situation:

- Florida beaches are open.
- Currently Deepwater Horizon is not discharging any oil into the Gulf of Mexico. BP well integrity testing is ongoing and active monitoring continues.
- Progress continues on the two relief wells.
- This event has been designated a Spill of National Significance.
- Unified Area Command continues with a comprehensive oil well intervention and spill response planning following the April 22 sinking of the Transocean Deepwater Horizon drilling rig 130 miles southeast of New Orleans.
- More than 41,000 personnel are working the on and offshore response.
- Oil-water mix recovered: nearly 34.2 million gallons.
- Response vessels available: more than 6,491
- Response aircraft available: 115
- Dispersant: more than 1.84 million gallons deployed.
- There is no planned use of dispersants in Florida waters.

Florida Specific:

- Tar balls, tar mats and light sheen continue to be reported in Northwest Florida.
- Isolated impacts will be possible in Northwest Florida over the next 72 hours.
- Five state-leased skimmers remain on standby in Northwest Florida to protect sensitive inland water bodies. These skimmers are operating out of Escambia, Okaloosa, Bay, Gulf and Franklin Counties.
- Pensacola Pass and Perdido Pass will continue to be closed with the tide to reduce the amount of oil entering inland waters. These waterways are manned to allow access to necessary vessel traffic and are open for vessel traffic during low tide.
- Oil Containment Boom (in feet) total: 796,461 deployed in Florida. Tier 1 & Tier 2: 481,000 / Tier 3: 315,461 In accordance with established plans, protective booming, staging, and boom maintenance is being conducted along the coast from Escambia to Franklin.
- 264 vessels are deployed in Florida for the Vessels of Opportunity program.
- 1,231 Qualified Community Responders are working in the Florida Panhandle.
- Federal Fishery closure, west of Cape San Blas to state line. (see NOAA FB10-060)
- The NOAA oil plume model shows the oil plume 85 miles from Pensacola, and 130 miles from Panama City. Trajectory forecasts scattered tarball fields already near shore may be carried onshore along the Panhandle coast. Offshore, no oil has been observed within or moving towards Eddy Franklin and there is no clear path for oil to enter the Florida Straits.
- In addition to $100,000 for Volunteer Florida to maintain a volunteer registration database, BP has issued over $75 million in grants to Florida for booming, tourism advertising, and state preparedness and response efforts. An additional $500,000 has been issued by BP to fund innovative technology solutions for Okaloosa Cty.
- BP claims in Florida total 30,846 with approximately $ 37,144,082.87 paid.
