

Miccosukee Canopy Road Greenway

The Miccosukee Canopy Road Greenway parallels six miles of Tallahassee's historic canopy roads through 500 acres of the Red Hills Region of northern Florida. The trail traverses rolling hills in mixed hardwood and pine forests, interspersed with several large pastures reflecting its agricultural background. Along the trail, users may observe over 46 species of birds, including ibis, egrets, and herons, Sherman's fox squirrel, and a variety of plants and wildflowers.
